

Executive Vice President's Leadership Forum

March 3, 2005	Third Annual Symposium on Scholarly Communication: Cultural Transformation of the University's Knowledge Base	Daniel Greenstein, PhD , Associate Vice Provost for Scholarly Information and University Librarian for Systemwide Library Planning at the University of California and Executive Director of the California Digital Library
October 19, 2004	CPOE (Computerized Provider Order Entry) – the Good, the Bad, and the Ugly	J. Marc Overhage, MD, PhD Associate Professor of Medicine, Indiana University School of Medicine Investigator, Regenstrief Institute, Inc.
October 18, 2004	Islands of Information: Linking Clinical Data	J. Marc Overhage, MD, PhD Associate Professor of Medicine, Indiana University School of Medicine Investigator, Regenstrief Institute, Inc.
April 7, 2004	Testing the assertions, presentations of problems and case discussions	Stuart J. Nelson, MD Head, Medical Subject Headings Section National Library of Medicine National Institutes of Health
April 6, 2004	Vocabulary Development and Maintenance The Example of MeSH Practical Considerations in Interoperability The Unified Medical Language System	Stuart J. Nelson, MD Head, Medical Subject Headings Section National Library of Medicine National Institutes of Health
March 12, 2004	Second Annual Symposium on Scholarly Communication: Stewardship of the University Community's Knowledge Base	Lawrence Lessig, J.D. , Professor of Law at Stanford Law School , founder of the School's Center for Internet and Society Johann van Reenen, M.Sc., M.Dip. Lib. Sci. , UNM Associate Professor, Assistant Dean for Public and Research Services of the UNM General Library and Director of Centennial Science and Engineering Library
February 18, 2004	On the Proper Use of Man and Machines	Stuart J. Nelson, MD Head, Medical Subject Headings Section National Library of Medicine National Institutes of Health
February 17, 2004	Problems in Formalization (AKA The Limits of Logic)	Stuart J. Nelson, MD Head, Medical Subject Headings Section National Library of Medicine National Institutes of Health
March 7, 2003	Through the Lens of Complex Adaptive Systems: The Emergence of Learning	Stewart P. Mennin, PhD Assistant Dean, Educational Development and Research

	Individually and Collectively	Professor, Department of Cell Biology and Research, School of Medicine, UNM
February 27, 2003	First Annual Symposium on Scholarly Communications: Scholarly Communication and the Common Good	David Shulenburg, Provost and Executive Vice Chancellor, University of Kansas, "The Scholarly Communication Crisis: a Call for a Public Goods Solution." Alan Covich, Professor, College of Natural Resources, Colorado State University, "Evaluating the Success of BioOne: an Innovative Partnership of Professional Societies, Libraries, Publishers, and Universities." Rick Luce, Director, LANL Research Library, "Out of the Quagmire: a Focus on Institutional Repositories."
May 23, 2002	Creating Community-Wide Health Information Systems Architectures: Partnering with Regional Health Planning Groups Empowering, Embracing, Energizing Consumers: A Mandate for Change	Patricia Brennan , Ph.D, M.S.N Professor of Nursing & Industrial Engineering University of Wisconsin-Madison Patricia Brennan , Ph.D, M.S.N Professor of Nursing & Industrial Engineering University of Wisconsin-Madison
January 30, 2002	Building an Medical Informatics Community	Charles P. Friedman, Ph.D. Professor of Medicine & Information Sciences Associate Vice Chancellor for Biomedical Informatics University of Pittsburgh
July 26, 2001	Experiential Training for Emergency Responders using Virtual Reality	Sharon Stansfield, Ph.D. Ithaca College
June 7, 2001	Unified Medical Language System (UMLS)	Zoe Stavri, PhD.
March 29, 2001	The Impact of Information Technology on Research, Education and Delivery of Health Care in the next decade.	Valerie Florance, PhD. AAMC
March 15, 2001	Technology-Driven Planning
March 7, 2001	Beyond Wired: Wireless Technology and Health Information	5th Annual Houston Conference on Health Informatics