ABOUT SANTA FE, NEW MEXICO

This unique city represents the crossroads of three cultures: Hispanic, American Indian, and Anglo. It is visually beautiful, historically important, and culturally rich. The special northern New Mexico architecture and the spectacular mountain setting make Santa Fe a visitor's delight. Countless museums and galleries highlight the broad range of art and artifacts for which the city is so famous. Outstanding restaurants and world-class shopping enhance the visitor's pleasure. Santa Fe is the gateway to northern New Mexico. American Indian pueblos, historic churches, gorgeous landscapes, trout-filled streams, and towns, such as Chimayo, Truchas, Los Alamos and Taos, provide ample touring prospects for the energetic visitor. For more information on Santa Fe, please visit the city's website at <http://www.santafenm.gov>.

WILLIAM SIEGAL GALLERY

The William Siegal Gallery offers museum-quality antiquities and contemporary art.

For over thirty years, owner Bill Siegal has been assembling the world's largest collection of fine ancient and antique Andean textiles dating from 750 BC to the 19th Century. Additionally, the gallery exhibits ceremonial objects and artifacts from Meso and South American Cultures, as well as objects from China's Han and Tang Dynasties and Southeast Asia. Distinguished African and Indonesian textiles are also prominently featured.

In May of 2007, the William Siegal Gallery opened its new 5,000 square foot exhibition space, in which antiquities are now hung side by side with the works of outstanding contemporary artists, conveying sublime and timeless trans-cultural aesthetics. The William Siegal Gallery is located in Santa Fe's newly revitalized Railyard District, which is rapidly becoming the central focus of Santa Fe's contemporary art scene. William Siegal Gallery

NEDRA MATTEUCCI GALLERIES (RECEPTION SITE)

Founded in 1972, Nedra Matteucci Galleries is recognized around the world for its collection of contemporary and historic art. The gallery specializes in 19th and 20th century American art, including the Taos Society of Artists, artists of the American West, and masters of American Impressionism and Modernism. Also featured is a selection of Russian Realist paintings. Included in the collection are works by important contemporary painters and monumental sculptures by artists of international recognition.

The gallery itself is a spacious adobe highlighted by a beautiful one-acre sculpture garden. Visitors should not miss the large collection of Native American artifacts, fine jewelry, and collectibles from around the world on their way to view the unique garden. Once outside, visitors will find monumental works in stone and bronze by contemporary sculptors. In addition to the vast collection of historical paintings inside the galleries' warm adobe walls are landscape, wildlife, Southwestern, and figurative paintings representing an outstanding group of contemporary painters.
