

Peg Wanta, P.T., Academic Coordinator of Clinical Education, joined the UNM Physical Therapy faculty in 2007. Peg oversees the clinical education component of the program. She graduated from the UNM Physical Therapy program in 1998. Peg has been involved in clinical education as a clinical instructor and center coordinator of clinical education for most of her career. She is an APTA credentialed clinical instructor. Peg has primarily practiced in the area of orthopedics, with a special interest in health promotion and wellness. She also holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Wisconsin-LaCrosse in Community Health Promotion and Wellness, 1989. Peg is working on her clinical doctorate in Physical Therapy with an anticipated graduation date in 2010.