Loan Repayment Programs

For future consideration, there are many loan repayment programs all over the country that offer financial assistance to repay your educational indebtedness once you have completed school/residency in return for a commitment to service, which is generally in an area of need. The following offer such programs:

- The National Health Service Corps
- The National Institute of Health
- The Armed Forces Health Professions
- Most states

The following website is a good resource for such programs:
http://services.aamc.org/fed_loan_pub/