This specialized residency in Emergency Medicine at The University of New Mexico Hospital is designed to provide the resident with immersive emergency medicine training in a fast-paced academic Level I Trauma Center. The strong support of pharmacy services in the ER by the Department of Emergency Medicine, in addition to the close association the program maintains with the University of New Mexico College of Pharmacy, affords the resident the opportunity to train in a unique multidisciplinary environment.

PGY2 pharmacy residency programs build on Doctor of Pharmacy (PharmD) education and PGY1 pharmacy residency experiences to contribute to the development of clinical pharmacists in advanced or specialized practice.

PGY2 residencies provide residents with opportunities to function independently as practitioners by conceptualizing and integrating accumulated experience and knowledge and incorporating both into the provision of patient care that improves medication therapy.

Residents who successfully complete an accredited PGY2 pharmacy residency should possess competencies that qualify them for clinical pharmacist and/or faculty positions and position them to be eligible for attainment of board certification in that practice area (when board certification for the practice area exists).
