Kevin Ellis, DO

Chief Medical Officer, Cigna Medical Group; Phoenix, AZ

As Chief Medical Officer, Kevin Ellis, D.O., is responsible for managing clinical operations and ensuring that Cigna Medical Group provides consistent quality care and service across the Phoenix metropolitan area.

Dr. Ellis is particularly interested in creating systems of care and patient engagement in order to provide the right care to patients, at the right time and in the most appropriate setting.

Dr. Ellis has served in medical executive roles in for-profit and not-for-profit organizations over the years. Immediately preceding his current role at CMG, Dr. Ellis served as the COO and CMO for a large, multi-site Federally Qualified Health Center in San Diego.

Dr. Ellis completed his undergraduate studies in Biology at the University of California at San Diego. He graduated medical school with honors from the University of North Texas/Texas College of Osteopathic Medicine. Dr. Ellis performed his post graduate training in Michigan and Texas. He is Board Certified in Family Practice by the American Osteopathic Board of Family Practice.

Dr. Ellis can be reached at Kevin.Ellis@Cigna.com

Timothy “Timbo” Taylor, MD

Chief Medical Officer, MainStreet Family Urgent Care; Birmingham, AL

Dr. Taylor is a graduate of the University of Mississippi. He obtained his medical degree from the University Of Mississippi School Of Medicine, and went on to complete an Emergency Medicine residency at the University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences.

During his residency, he was named Pediatric Critical Care Transport Resident of the Year. After graduation, he moved to Birmingham, Alabama where he started working at the Emergency Department at St. Vincent’s Hospital, a busy community, tertiary-level facility.

After several years at St. Vincent’s he helped found MainStreet Family Urgent Care, opening their first clinic in 2015, and continued to open new clinics bringing them to a total of 21 clinics at present. Their clinics are in rural areas throughout the states of Alabama and Georgia. He currently serves as MainStreet’s Chief Medical Officer. He is a member of the College of Urgent Care Medicine Board of Directors.
