PREVENTION RESEARCH CENTER

The goal of the VIVA Connects team is to assist communities with physical activity and cancer prevention. Additionally, we believe that connecting communities with one another is a great way for information and ideas to be shared, therefore we have created monthly virtual meetings. This will allow our community members to discuss topics related to strengths and weaknesses of past and ongoing projects, let a community ask for advice from other communities when faced with a challenge, and be able to brainstorm and express ideas in a group.

Recorded zoom call videos may be posted here so that anyone at any point is able to view them to learn more about the work of the communities and seek information and answered from community members.
