Community Action Funds (up to $3000) are available for community-based research projects that aim to empower communities and effect policy changes. These funds are intended to fund short-term activities that allow community groups to identify activities that would propel initiatives from concept to action. Funds may be used for services, data collection, data analysis, expertise, facilitation, or student help. Applications are reviewed on a rolling basis by the NM-INSPIRES directors and CEC Core Lead.

Applications for these funds should be submitted to Theresa Champion (techampion@salud.unm.edu) with subject line “Community Action Funds”.

Application Requirements

Community agencies are required to work with an NM-INSPIRES faculty member.
