

Can a Supervisor Refer an Employee to the EAP?

Occasionally, a supervisor may recommend that an employee contact the EAP when there is a work performance problem. Everything discussed between the counselor and employee is strictly confidential, unless written consent is given by the employee. Even with consent, only necessary information is revealed to the supervisor.

How Do You Contact the EAP?

To obtain services or information, call us toll-free at 800-869-0276. We are available 24 hours per day, 7 days per week to assist you.

You can also confidentially request EAP services by secure e-mail on the Sign In page of our website at www.eapconsultants.com.

Special Information for Employees

Employees and their dependents are eligible for counseling, consultation and referral services as well as resource information.

When you call the EAP, we will ask you a few brief questions to help determine the counselor or consultant best suited to provide the assistance you need.

You must cancel any scheduled appointments 24 hours in advance, unless there is an emergency. Otherwise, it will be counted as one of your EAP sessions.

What is Your Employee Assistance Program (EAP)?

Everyone has personal problems from time to time. Your EAP offers professional, confidential counseling and consultation that can help you resolve these issues. Services are available at no cost to you.

Your employer has contracted with EAP Consultants, LLC to provide you with comprehensive EAP services. We offer assessment, short-term counseling, and referral services for a wide range of personal problems, as well as a variety of work/life issues.

Our private offices are conveniently located near your work or home. Our EAP professionals will help you identify and clarify your concerns, look at all the options, and develop a plan of action to create solutions that work. If additional assistance is needed, you will be referred to the most appropriate and affordable resources.
